<https://youtu.be/26CcIXCkcSU> 10/10 for not making a fuss when the world goes boom! My underwear was safe at all times. This is a very simple, easy to play game. There's not a whole lot to this game so I'll try to give the pros and cons here. Pros: 1) Great soundtrack and simple visuals. 2) Relaxing, casual gameplay that's not overly difficult. 3) Simple controls (Although kind of awkward). Cons: 1) No progression (All enemy types start being spawned from the beginning) and no increase in difficulty 2) Although some of the special abilities are cool, there doesn't seem to be a balance (One is practically useless, while others seem to help you too much). Overall, for only a dollar, it's a good game for just sitting back and spending a few minutes just relaxing. And trust me with that background music, you will definitely feel relaxed.. This game is interesting, when you discover it. But 15 minutes later, you realize you've seen all and progression doesn't feel good. It's very simple, probably it was designed for mobile (only 2 direction keys) - however there is still use for pointer in that all "purple virus blobs" (additional points). There are no highscores nor Steam leaderboard, nor achievements. It's not even relaxing. It's buggy - although notable, it's hard to describe.. 10/10 for not making a fuss when the world goes boom! My underwear was safe at all times. This game doesn't seem like much but it's amazing and simple it's easy to learn the controls and the game itself when playing this i was immersed and really relaxed and for a dollar it's worth it, it's fun and addicting for such a simple game.. I have officially become the fourth person to review this game, and it's amazing. It focuses on a simple mechanic of controlling the direction of a moon around a planet to protect it from spaceships and asteroids. One thing I wish this game had was a option to invert the right/left click for the directions, as it would be much better for me to play the game. It reminds me of Bit Blaster XL, and it's definitely worth getting for a dollar.. Really good slow soundtrack, also the simple graphics really helped. This would be one of my favorite games.
